Pediatric Critical Care Symposium

Care of the critically ill child holds special challenges for those who deliver health care.

This program is designed to provide cutting-edge information and strategies for caring for critically ill children. The topics presented will explore pathophysiology, management and evidence based treatment for a variety of diseases and illness states.

Pediatric health care providers often face difficult situations and need to work collaboratively; please join us in examining management from ED through critical care. Since treatment strategies continue to evolve, this program will focus on the most up-to-date management of pediatric sepsis, multi-drug resistant organisms, trauma, acute lung injury and ARDS. Management of pediatric pulmonary hypertension can be tricky, enhance your knowledge of how to manage these patients. Families bring a special dynamic to pediatric care; learn strategies to work through difficult family situations. Sadly, not all children survive their illness or injury; join us in addressing the challenging topic of pediatric brain death and organ donation.

We invite you to expand your knowledge on evidence based pediatric critical care practices through this exciting conference. Expert pediatric health care providers will share their expertise through lectures and case studies. Join in the fun of learning through anonymous participation with our audiovisual audience response system.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES
On completion of this program, the participants will be able to:

- Integrate concepts related to the evidence based management of select pediatric disorders.
- Describe health care strategies, emerging technology and current research for practice in pediatric acute and critical care.
- Discuss strategies for identification and support of families with challenging dynamics.
